MAAR COLLECTION

Our new collection of Maar lamps: organic beauty

LIGHT YOUR HOME WITH THESE FIQUE VEGETABLE FIBRE CREATIONS, WOVEN BY HAND USING THE HAND CRAFT CROTCHET TECHNIQUE

Crochet is an age-old traditional technique that requires skill and time to carry out and which machines are not capable of reproducing. The same is true of our new Maar line of lamps: they are woven and crafted by hand involving no industrial processing.

Using age-old natural techniques, the loose and pure fibres of the fique plant leaf are extracted. With these fibres our craftspeople weave together the shades of the Maar lamps, combining the strength of the fibres with the slightly rounded organic forms of the crochet knot. The shades are sewn by hand to an aluminium structure which provides the form, creating a highly contemporary but nonetheless timeless designer lamp.

MAAR LAMPS RECREATE
FORMS AND FLUID SILHOUETTES
FROM NATURE THAT LEND
A SENSE OF PEACE AND CALM

Mother Nature is not only a source of materials for Let's Pause. She is also a font of inspiration with the creation of forms and fluid silhouettes that lend a sense of peace and calm. That explains how the Maar line of lamps recreate the shapes of rounded stones, for the Maar Stone model, and a more elongated droplet of water delicately in the balance as if time itself had stood still for the Maar Drop model

MAAR STONE

These two threads and the crotchet stitching are combined to bring about a magical pattern of light and shade projected through a vegetable mesh. Both lamps throw off a warm illumination, tempered by the woven texture that is reflected onto walls and floors, in a subtle game of light projections.

MAGICAL PATTERNS OF LIGHT AND SHADE

BOTH MODELS CAN BE COMBINED TO CREATE A SCULPTURAL LIGHTING INSTALLATION

COMBINE AND CONTRAST

Both models can be combined to create a sculptural lighting installation. Like the example shown here, that features the Maar Drop model placed directly over the Maar Stone model. As if drops of water were dripping onto the stones below. And the versatility of Maar Stone allows for its use as a hanging lamp, or tabletop lamp or even a floor lamp.

In fact, both models adapt perfectly to open spaces, including hotel lobbies or entrance halls of architectural houses, or more intimate areas where they bring a sense of warmth and evoke a feeling of nature.
