Dominique TOSIANI, La Maison Générale, new artistic director for RALPH M.

French furniture manufacturer RALPH M. has hired Dominique TOSIANI as the brand's new artistic director. He will oversee the design of new collections (sofas, armchairs, tables and rugs) and play an active role in RALPH M.'s development strategy.

Trained in interior design at the Penninghem school, he founded the famous LA MAISON GENERALE concept store in Brittany and, more recently, in Quebec.

For many years, he has been committed to showcasing the collections of leading design brands such as VITRA, KNOLL, DCW, B&B Italia and other big names in Italian design in his stores. Renowned designers such as Philippe STARCK, the BOUROULLEC brothers, Eero SAARINEN, EAMES, Jean PROUVE and JIELDE come together and meet in these coherent worlds.

A great man of values and knowledge, unity is strength.
