

DUTCHDELUXES, FASHIONABLE KITCHEN STUFF AND TABLEWARE

Dutchdeluxes is a brand that offers kitchen accessories known for their quality and design. The combination of leather and solid wood has made this brand popular since its creation in 2013. Dutchdeluxes combines fashion and style with a love for cooking, and it is demonstrated in all of their products.

Sebastiaan Eerhart and Maud Eerhart-Vorspaget created this label sitting at their kitchen table in Eindhoven. They came up with the idea to start Dutchdeluxes because they were missing fashionable and functional articles in their own kitchen. They have had the same fashion education and are the owners of an interior architecture bureau for over 17 years. They started with designing colourful food platters and XL bread boards, soon followed by their almost famous leather aprons.

The collection is made of authentic materials and bright colours, which gives character to the kitchen.

“Combining passion and fun, it is our challenge to design products for the kitchen that are fashionable and exhibit functional craftsmanship at the same time. The result is a wow collection of unique items, distinctive in shape, quality and colour. Our production is based in The Netherlands, which allows us to monitor it closely and ensure that our standards are respected,” explains Sebastiaan Eerhart, co-founder of the brand.

Dutchdeluxes is planning to expand their business in fashionable kitchen- and tableware. Create and introduce new WOW items in upcoming years in Kitchen fashion. Planning to become the world’s best-known brand for its innovative and fashionable aprons. On the other hand they want to surprise customers and consumers with expanding the collection by creating ‘news’ and continuing to introduce ‘the well known traditional items’ but made just in another way to become wanted in every kitchen.
