Fussenegger

Altach, June 2020

Dear customers and partners,

Our home is a retreat – the place where we live our lives and where we feel comfortable. It applies now more than ever. We at David Fussenegger have developed products that allow us to shape our homes authentically and comfortably.

The new Fall/Winter collection 2020/2021 consists of a combination of natural and warm fall colours, as well as organic shapes with sculpturally shaped lines.

Expressionist artworks and nature's beauty inspired our design team.

This season is all about using bold geometries, sketches, and playful blocks of colour to express personality in our homes. The aim is to evoke emotions and create atmospheric moments, which our new collections achieve definitely.

A proper eye-catcher is the Portrait series that reflects the trend of imperfection with the help of hand-drawn forms. The novel colours mustard, Milka, and black emphasise the artistic flair of these designs.

The Grafic Arts series appear linear, with its planar blocks of colours showing traces of the organic structures and irregularities of nature. The Straight Lines series is dominated by the interplay of lines and the trendy colours army, ivy, Milka and felt.

The lush floral and organic patterns on the trending topic Botanical with the cuddly velour quality SAVONA provide a contrast.

In Multi Local, regional style meets global influences – from decorative tribal and folkloristic patterns to geometric and abstract. African inspired designs stand next to watercoloured mountain landscapes and traditional alpine motifs.

Our Basics received an exciting update as well. The flannel bedding David made from recycled cotton features novel designs and colours. A hot-water bottle supplements the successful Stubenhocker ("homebody") series.

The Xmas collection will take us for a ride through winter wonderland. Numerous traditional Christmas motifs were given modern interpretations by our designers and realised across our pleasant textile products.

The Driving home for Christmas series features the trendy Nordic-illustrative style. It adorns blankets, pillows, hot-water bottles, and our innovative Advent calendar, which also offers space for larger presents with its four larger pockets.

Tartan is the trendy checker pattern of this year. Its Bordeaux-Marine shows affiliation to a Scottish clan and makes it a must-have for lovers of fashion. We have used it to adorn pillows, blankets, and a fillable Christmas stocking.

This year, our all-time favourite Blanket in the Puppet is available for young and old alike. The merry colourful nutcracker is accompanied by his little brother the tin soldier, with his drum as a filled cushion. He is accompanied by red-white candy canes and a fluffy blanket with mistletoe branches and classy embroidery.

Once again, the star is a dominant motif for this year's Christmas collection.

Sometimes as decorative allover with fancy matt-glossy contrasts, relief design on Art déco, or in elegant traditional colours with a modern twist – black-and-white meets gentle grey and trendy noisette.

We hope you enjoy browsing and ordering from our new collections. We also have our classics in the separate catalogues BASIC and KIDS! You can find all of our catalogues and additional information on our new homepage www.davidfussenegger.com.

We look forward to welcoming you in autumn at one of the below fairs.

With the kindest regards from Vorarlberg, Austria
