

Color Stories

SPRING 2018

The spring 2018 collection is an expression of color across all textile mediums. We created new yarns from scratch by twisting multiple strands of tonal colors together. We developed weaves and tufted textures that deliver complex shades that are dimensional and never one note. We digitally printed color gradations on translucent woven textiles producing an otherworldly glow on any surface. And there is so much more...

PEACHY ORANGES AND CORALS

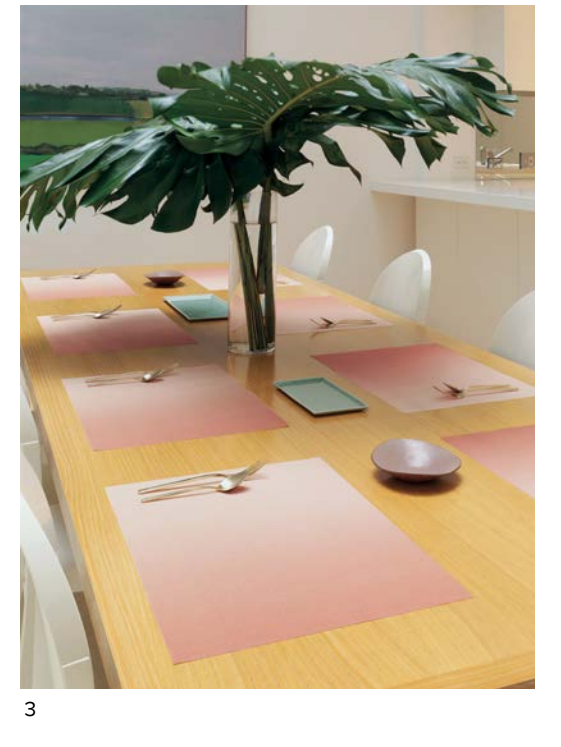

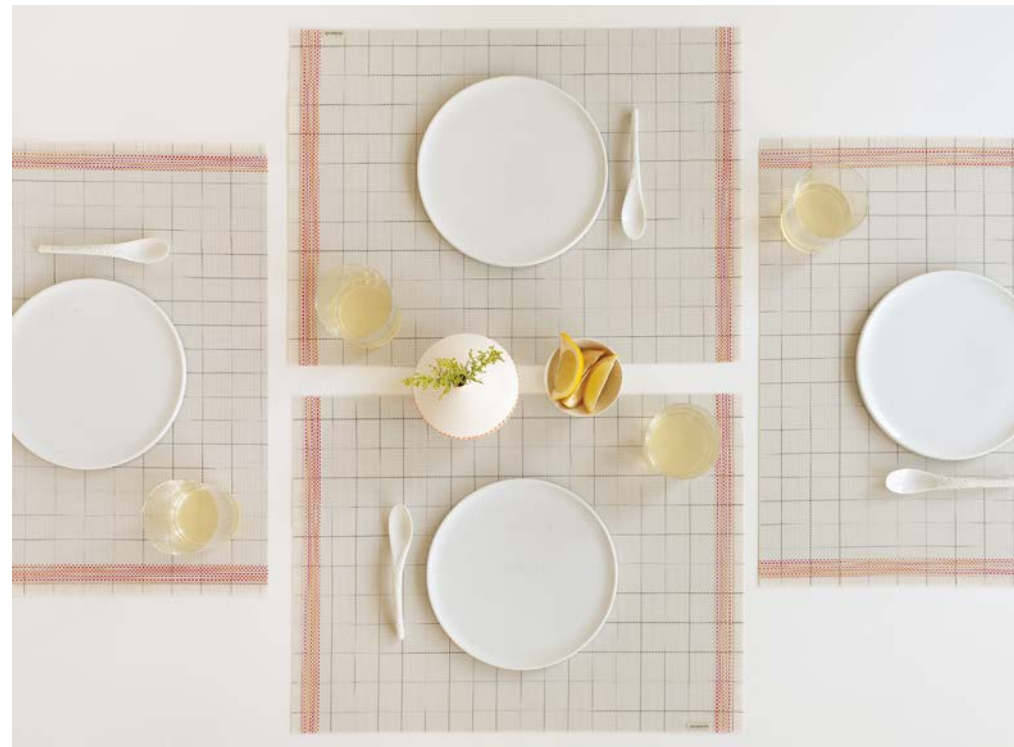

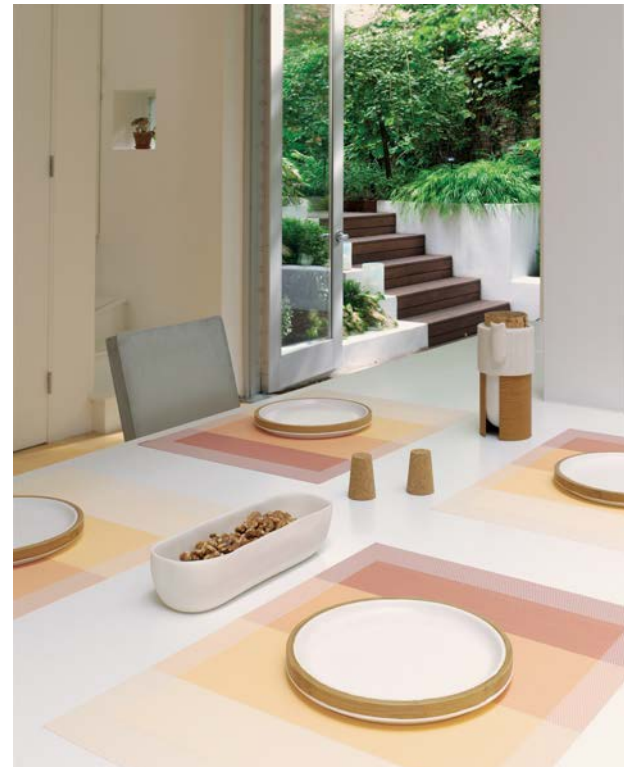

Featured:

1 Color Tempo in Guava: Peaches to cream in one tonal gradation.

2 Float, in Guava: Pink, coral and mauve yarns co-mingle and travel together throughout this intricate woven jacquard

3 Selvedge in Natural/Orange: Accent colors provide the color story here. Weaving a border of orange color yarns provides a bold frame to the understated woven grid.

4 Glow in Guava: Our printed Coral Ombre shows color in a completely new light ... literally. Digitally printed on our translucent textile glows from any every angle.

SANGRIA

Featured:

1-3 Market Fringe, in Sangria: Rich, warm colors don't have to wait till winter our Sangria market fringe works indoors and out all year long.

We called it Sangria because the tone is so hard to replicate ... is it red? burgundy? purple? eggplant? It's a mix.

We used 12 distinct colors which we then twisted together and wove together to capture this delicious color.

SUBLIME GREYS

Shades of black, white with off white are all it takes to achieve a grey that feels stately. Sound simple? It wasn't.

There was real intention here to sequence the colors so they come together and stretch apart on demand to create a carefully balanced woven textile, that becomes that perfect grey.
