WHAT'S M&O?

Maison Et Objet Paris is the major event for professionals working in the art of living in all its rich and varied expressions. The lifestyle show brings together a 360° product offering. Decoration, design, furniture, accessories, textiles, fragrances, the world of children, tableware. The styles coexist in a multifaceted way, throughout the inventive show design which enlivens the spaces. This extraordinary diversity is in line with the varied expectations of global markets. With each session, the great lifestyle platform, at the intersection of business and creativity, reveals solutions to visitors from around the world in search of uniqueness. But let's start with the basic information.

When can you visit Maison et Objet?

The opening hours from Friday to Monday are 09:30 am to 07:00 pm. On Tuesday, the opening hours are from 09:30 am to 06:00 pm.

Online you can find a show map that showcases the several areas of this fair that in 2019 will offer a clearer and more organized perspective of two main areas: MAISON and its wide range of interior decoration, organized into different worlds; OBJET, the show's concept store, ideal for retailers.

If you want to know everything that is happening at Maison et Objet, feel free to download for free, the MAISON&OBJET APP which will give you access to a series of things, from the list of exhibitors to plans, programmes, lectures, and events during this fair. In addition, you can also explore the MOM Platform, a creation of Maison et Objet, which is an endless source of inspiration. It helps to discover the most recently launched design products, projects, collections as well as your favorite brands, designers and architects.

INSPIRATIONS OF M&O

Each year, the event hosts a unique inspirations theme, this time around will be “Excuse My French”. Vincent Grégoire from NellyRodi will once again oversee this highly inspiring space. The designer has analyzed the latest consumer trends and sociological phenomena and has encapsulated them in a theme, it may seem that it has a humorous character but it actually looks seriously upon the re-emergence of the country of Molière on the international scene. According to Vincent Grégoire from NellyRodi, everything revolving Frapossessesess a certain je ne sais quoi – that indescribable Gallic quality that exudes an easy allure, an effortlessly chic and a distinctive sense of style.

France has long been a worldwide reference for the arts, fashion, design and lifestyle.

For many, it is quite simply the epitome of elegance. Grégoire pinpoints a number of factors responsible for the country's new-found resurgence.

Leading the way are a whole host of smaller companies, Petites Maisons, who reinterpret traditional savoir-faire with product lines characterized by a spirit of invention and exclusivity.

A "nouvelle vague" of creatives open to multicultural influences have also emerged.

They shake up traditional French chic by injecting inspirations from elsewhere in a new mood of fusion and mix 'n' match.

DESIGNER OF THE YEAR

At 37, German designer Sebastian Herkner, who trained at Offenbach University of Art and Design, is embarking on an ever-growing number of collaborations with international design houses (no less than 21 projects in the pipeline during 2018 for Moroso, Dedon, Thonet and Lintello to name but a few). Over the course of the past decade, he has received some thirty awards in recognition of his innovative yet traditional work and, for all of the reasons above, he was chosen as the Designer of The Year of the January Edition of Maison et Objet 2019! You'll be able to admire the power work of Herkner during this prestigious design event.

TOP RESTAURANTS

Le Meurice

This top restaurant continues to write its history by remaining true to its time. The hotel called on the talents of Philippe Starck for his spaces impregnated with surrealism, and to Alain Ducasse whose cuisine already infused the soul of the establishment.

228 Rue de Rivoli, 75001 Paris

Alain Ducasse Au Plaza Athénée

Alain Ducasse tells a personal and radical story, continuing the work he began twenty-five years ago. He represents the naturalness cuisine, inspired by the fish-vegetables-cereals trilogy, with the help of his chef of Romain Meder. Healthier and more natural, more respectful of the Planet, it delivers a free and nearly instinctive interpretation of Haute Cuisine, revealing the produces' original flavor, from the noble to the humble, all exceptional.

25 Avenue Montaigne, 75008 Paris

L'Espadon

A gastronomic experience designed to surprise and delight: Chef Nicolas Sale invites you to enjoy the most creative, refined and elegant dishes, from a gentle morning breakfast to an experimental garden for lunch or an unforgettable dinner. Let the spirit of the Ritz Paris be your guide.

15 Place Vendôme, 75001 Paris

Guy Savoy

A meal at Restaurant Guy Savoy is a union of the skills of the chef, the kitchen brigade and the front of house team, combining to show in the best possible light the array of products offered up by our planet; the fruits of the labours of the very best farmers, producers and winemakers, all of whom recognise their shared heritage.

Monnaie de Paris, 11 Quai de Conti, 75006 Paris.

L'Ambroisie

This is a Michelin three-starred restaurant whose chef is Bernard Pacaud, his refined and classical cooking style makes it one of the most esteemed French restaurants. The restaurant is in a period house in the Place the Vosges.

9 Place des Vosges, 75004 Paris

Yannick Alléno

Since July 2014, when Yannick Alléno started to run the Pavillon Ledoyen and settled there Alléno Paris, he has been using the skills he learned from some of the world's greatest chefs and the modernity of his approach to bringing new life to classical French cuisine in one of the most historic Parisian locations. Pavillon Ledoyen, renowned since 1792 and located on the Champs-Élysées since 1842, is a unique and special place: a chef's home, Yannick Alléno's home.

8 Avenue Dutuit, 75008 Paris

PLACES TO PARTY

Maison Souquet

A design-focused hotel bar reviving Pigalle's racy heyday. This address certainly has a colorful past. A former brothel, Maison Souquet is now a clandestine hotel with a bar of the same name – which truly embraces the Pigalle of yesteryear. Décor is Jacques Garcia's Belle Époque meets orientalism, including original pieces like 1895 Cordoba leather on the walls, Moorish earthenware, porcelain, vintage furniture and molded fireplaces.

10 Rue de Bruxelles, 75009 Paris

Gravity Bar

This snazzy new cocktail bar has quickly bedded in as one of the hippest in the city. The interior of Gravity is properly stylish, a large, light space with these white wave-shaped slats covering the ceiling. It's dramatic and theatrical, an effect enhanced by the bar's huge steel counter.

44 Rue des Vinaigriers, 75000 Paris

Le Blaine

This speakeasy-style bar in 8th arrondissement does its fashionable best to capture the feeling of a clandestine bar in 1920s Chicago, as Prohibition was in full swing. Hidden behind a large black door, Blaine is located at the bottom of what appears to be a disused staircase. Whisper a password, follow a corridor and open a door, and only then will you reach the small candlelit space.

65 Rue Pierre Charron, 75008 Paris

Shake n Smash

With its huge oak bar, its high-range wall of spirits and leopard armchairs, Shake 'n' Smash has the elegance of old cabaret bars. You will easily find it between the Place de la République and the Town Hall of the 3rd arrondissement.

87 Rue de Turbigo, 75003 Paris

ART & DESIGN GALLERIES

Galerie Maria Wettergren

Maria Wettergren was born in Lemvig, Denmark. While subsequently preparing a Master degree, Maria Wettergren lived in Paris where she worked simultaneously for several art galleries such as Flux by Cyril Putman, while he was representing Fabrice Hyber and Huang Yong Ping at the Venice Biennale (1997 – 1999). In 2002, she decided to interrupt her studies to become the director of the Parisian branch of the Dansk Moebelkunst Gallery. She ran DMK until 2010 when she decided to open a gallery specialized in contemporary Scandinavian art design.

18 Rue Guénégaud, 75006 Pari

Galerie Patrick Seguin

Founded in 1989, Galerie Patrick Seguin is located in Paris's Bastille district in a 300 sqm (3200 sq ft) space, renovated by Jean Nouvel, a 2008 Prizker Prize winner. Since its opening, the gallery has brought the talents of French designers such as Jean Prouvé, Charlotte Perriand, Pierre Jeanneret, Le Corbusier and Jean Royère into the international spotlight.

As of today, the gallery has amassed the most important collection of these demountable houses, which for the most part are either unique examples or were produced in very few numbers.

5 rue des Taillandiers F-75011, Paris

Galerie Kreo

This gallery which opened in 1999 in the 13th arrondissement in Paris, in the special contemporary art area called « Louise Weiss », focuses on producing new pieces in collaboration with the world's most relevant contemporary designers. In 2008 Galerie kreo relocated to the heart of Saint-Germain des prés, and in 2009, parallel to its role in a contemporary production, increased it's dealing with vintage lighting and furniture.
