Our Studio Collections

New ideas, inventive techniques dues to our collaborations with designers.

For this edition of Maison et Objet 2020, Maison Vervloet wants to highlight two of their most recent collections: the Ballet collection and the Close up collection.

Ballet collection designed by Stijn D'Hondt

Collection 'Ballet' designed by Stijn D'Hondt and inspired by ballet dance. For Stijn D'hondt Ballet is a field of tension between discipline and frivolity. This was translated into a design where dynamic is the multiplication of the straight lines and the characteristic curve. A feeling that is visibly present and sensible in the hand

“Dance enables a mix of an aesthetic pleasure, a dynamic pleasure and an emotional one. Limited explanations, limited anecdotes – yet unlimited sensations.”

– Maurice Béjart –

Close up Collection designed by Glenn Sestig

From an intellectual reflection to an aesthetic silhouette. While designing a new door handle for his own projects, the Close up series of Glenn Sestig became a complete handcrafted collection of architectural hardware. Glenn Sestig created the collection based on one archetypical form extended into an ergonomic yet elegant profile. Due to the combinations of profiles, the Close up series, featuring subtle and refined detailing, turns out to be a timeless, functional and unique collection. The style of the architect was expressed in the essence of the project, in the material used : steel.

A great first for Maison Vervloet
