

SUPERKÜL – THE VERY BEST ARCHITECTURAL STUDIO IN CANADA

Superkül, an authentic Toronto-based architectural studio, founded in 2002, features the leadership of Meg Graham and Andre D'elia. The incredible design projects created by award-winning design studio have been published in several international design magazines like Canadian Interiors, The Toronto Star Arch Daily China, and Canadian Architect. Their success is due to the love they have for “deep creative process that pulls everyone in to achieve our clients' dreams”.

As they continue to grow throughout the years, Superkül gains a lot of experience, with a hope on the future to raise awareness on “the sustainability (economic, social and environmental) of our buildings and spaces. There is just no excuse to do otherwise”.

In order to get these accomplishments, there's a constant motivation and a need for professional fulfillment around every project, to achieve the perfect results. "My motivation in life comes from (to paraphrase Madonna) a deep fear of being mediocre. I am driven to experience life as deeply and fully as possible, which for me means making and building a life and a body of work that is honest, beautiful and profoundly connected to the world and people that inhabit it".

They make sure to be bold on their projects, surprising every client in the best way you could imagine. With that strong image of their studio, they affirm that they “don’t advertise, and tend to let the work speak for itself”. So establishes their goal to complete every project with a 100% commitment, focusing on the establishment of projects with absolute perfection, without the concern of transmitting their work through other channels.

Always performing a “relentless search for what is authentic”, they believe in long-term sustainability, that is able to guide the direction of the firm towards creating a brighter future. Right now, they are involved in many exciting projects such as “infill micro-housing, a University Student Centre, bespoke small retail projects, and a 500,000-square-foot mixed-use building, comprising residential/commercial/retail functions. In other words, a diverse set of projects”.

Craftmanship is a very important element within the world of design and architecture because it shares a great and amazing contribution to every project that's created by these artists. With that in mind, they consider that "advances in product and component design abound" are leading the way through this aspect. The studio is interested "in components that help advance sustainable objectives – components that are recycled, reused, highly energy-efficient, along with low-impact natural materials".
