“

MOUNTAIN LOVE

Powderhound is a lifestyle collection born out of our love of the mountains. Inspired by the magic of mountain holidays, the freedom of winter sports and the spirit of alpine life, Made for skiers, snowboarders and the mountain loving community around the world.

Conceived by creative director, Natasha Durlacher, every design is arranged around imagery, taken from vignettes that Natasha has observed and photographed in the Alps. Her designs are a lyrical reflection of the community and spirit that surround and inhabit the mountains.

Above all we have a deep respect for the mountains and we make every effort to try and lessen our impact on the environment and do our bit to help protect the mountains for future generations. We responsibly source and make our products as eco-friendly as possible.

Whether in your hand, on your wall, or on your back, we hope that each Powderhound piece will connect you to your best mountain memories.
