Our thoughts for tomorrow

During the past months #stayhome has become a much-used hashtag on Social Media – our world has changed, and this fact has made us think about our presence and purpose of being here.

We have all seen the dolphins swim happily in the channels of Venice. We have seen pollution disappear from the capitals around the world and we have seen a clear sky without any airplanes.
It has been scary. It has been beautiful.

The situation has confirmed us that our sustainable strategy and mission is more relevant than ever
- we hope you will like our sustainable collection.
