

PATRIZIA CORVAGLIA

I work with ideas, metals, projects and strong emotions. I believe that self-expression has to involve risking oneself. I would call it forging. To leave an imprint on the materials and give voice to the desires of others. I am here to bring you into my world. I am sure you will need the piece of jewellery that will speak to your soul. I began as a painter and as a sculptor, because it is from the signs and shapes that my dream unfolds. I painted and gouged lines searching for ideas that could express my deeper instincts. I worked as a designer and art teacher and then, looking for new challenges, I moved my aesthetic view towards a fusion with Jewellery making, an old knowledge in my family. From my grandfather I had soaked up the love of stones and with this love I invented a world, full of beauty, magic, sumptuous shapes and reneé craftsmanship handed down to me from renowned Craftsmen allowing me to attain the recognition as “Italian Excellence” and “Roman Excellence”.
