THE PERFECT CONTEMPORARY KITCHEN BY MEG MILLER

UNIQUE LAMP - SINATRA SUSPENSION

THE PERFECT CONTEMPORARY KITCHEN BY MEG MILLER

This unique design is one of the interior designer's most special projects and here is why.

Featuring strong colors and a unique lighting, renowned interior designer, Meg Miller, has created what can be called the perfect kitchen project that every design lover would wish to have in their homes. Like her other work, this unique project "sings," thanks to the creative color palette that Meg has chosen and (of course) the star of the show: DelightFULL's Sinatra Suspension lighting fixture. "My favorite part of the Sinatra light is definitely the bright, cheery, cherry RED! And the mid-century modern vibe." It's super retro cool and current, all at the same time," said the interior designer.

SINATRA SUSPENSION BY DELIGHTFULL

Based in Denver (Colorado), Meg Miller is considered to be one of Denver's most award-winning environmental/interior designers and fine artist, thanks to her colorful design approach a unique sense of style, when reimagining a residential or commercial space. Every one of her projects are elevated beyond the ordinary, by implementing creative and unexpected solutions, that define and reflect a home or business's unique personality, keeping function and space planning top of mind.

Meg's unique aesthetic sense is influenced by her artistic sensibilities, and she specializes in blending urban, mid-century modern, classical and industrial-chic for a well-balanced, eclectic design that takes things to a whole new level of cool. This unique contemporary kitchen design is her most recent project and is one that's close to her heart. After creating several design projects for clients, Meg had the chance to design the perfect contemporary kitchen for her own home in Denver with the help of one of DelightFULL's iconic pieces, the Sinatra Suspension piece. This lighting fixture was the perfect accent to add some personality to the space, thanks to its unique character and storytelling.

"For the selection of that light fixture, I had been eyeing it for years, hoping to use on a clients project, but it was never quite right. So, I finally had the opportunity to splurge and get it for myself when we moved into our new home", explained Meg Miller.

Since, the space features an open floorplan concept, Meg wanted to make a splash in the kitchen – front and center - so it could be enjoyed from every area on the main floor. The walls and cabinets were customized in a monochromatic color palette so that the Meg could play with colors in different ways.

According to Meg, the Sinatra suspension light, and its bright red color tone, “was my WOW moment, it makes everything else around it just sing, and allows the grays, blacks and whites to pop. I like to keep walls and cabinets monochromatic and play with color in other unique ways”.

This center-hung, single chandelier, spreads out in all directions and has down lights to light the entire island and sink/work area. Meg Miller affirms that she is “tired of the standard 2-3 pendants hanging over the kitchen island like everyone else has in their homes” and believes that this unique lighting design “with its cool, classic, mid-century modern vibe (hence the name Sinatra) will never become trendy or look dated. The minute we installed it, everything else around it came to life!”.

Meg Miller surely took us to the moon with this unique kitchen project and its creative and colorful accents.
