SOPHIA THINKING ART METAMORPHOSIS

The concept of art has been changing over time exploring new ideas by defining emotions, a sense of beauty, one's history, one's aesthetics and imagination.

Sophia's new "Metamorphosis" collection is created by designer Alexandra and her strong passion on design evolution. This exclusive thinking collection, reflects on a Cycladic statue head, by transforming it into a unique and authentic modern deco art. Painted by hand, one by one, evoking to make a statement by drawing out emotion.

Aristotle wrote "The aim of art is to represent not the outward appearance of things, but their inward significance."

We hope we can communicate our statement and help you discover the inward message of each art piece.

The Odyssey By Homer Written 800 B.C.E

Tell me, O muse, of that ingenious hero who travelled far and wide after he had sacked the famous town of Troy. Many cities did he visit, and many were the nations with whose manners and customs he was acquainted; moreover he suffered much by sea while trying to save his safely home; but do what he might he could not save his perished for they through their own sheer folly in eating the cattle of the Sungod Hyperion; so the god prevented them from ever reaching home. Tell me, too, about all these things, O daughter of Jove, from whatsoever source you may know them.

THE ART OF

"Design can be art.
Design can be aesthetics.
Design is so simple, that's why it is so complicated."
