

Where italian craftsmanship meets design.

Thea is a new brand that offers furniture, handles, furnishing accessories and tailor-made fashion accessories of high quality Tuscan craftsmanship.

In Greek mythology Thea was one of the Titanides, goddess of light, associated with the splendor of metals and jewels. Our THEA collection features handcrafted furniture and accessories, inspired by the same quest for perfection that drew Renaissance artists to Greek sculptures. Our goal is to continually strive to improve with every item we produce. We believe in a future in which quality is important, in which the satisfaction we feel in designing and producing our items will be the same satisfaction our customer experiences in choosing our products. THEA is inspired by the heritage of local craftsmanship, and prefers high-quality regional materials that reflect the Italian sense of beauty, interpreted by Arch. Lotte Breithaupt and Katharina Majer, founders of the Thea brand.

Who we are:

The production of objects created by Thea makes use of the collaboration of a large network of Tuscan artisan shops, each with expert masters in specific processes. The variety of artisanal production in the area and the quality handed down for centuries in the shops are sources of inspiration for us and allow us to offer a broad service. Our goal is to improve ourselves with every object we make. We believe in a future in which quality has a tangible and significant value also for customers who, by investing in local labor while respecting history and production, will contribute to preserving knowledge and values.
