Daphna Laurens est un studio de design fondé à Eindhoven en 2008 par 2 designers tous deux diplômé de la Design Academy d'Eindhoven. La recherche stylistique de ce studio est orienté vers l'expérimentation, à la fois dans le rechercher de nouvelles formes comme dans l'utilisation de matériaux, dans le but de transformer les produits de tous les jours en des objets qui détiennent leur identité propre.

Nina Tolstrup & Jack Mama

Nina Tolstrup draws on a deep grounding in design and an innate connection to nature that is inherent in her Scandinavian roots and was honed during her training at ENSCI-Les Ateliers in Paris. Combining this with her diverse experience in trends, design management, photo journalism and marketing in Paris, London and Copenhagen gives her a 360-degree perspective and a unique approach to design. Born into a Greek-Cypriot family in the East End of London, Jack Mama enjoyed the rich influences of a multicultural and cosmopolitan upbringing. After graduating from the Royal College of Art, he worked in the Netherlands and Sweden as creative director for several global brands, developing a reputation for visionary work in design futures and design-led strategy, which led to innovative products and new business models. His work with Philips, Electrolux, Nike and BMW has been widely recognised with awards and global exhibitions. In 2000, they founded the multidisciplinary design studio "Studiomama" based in east London.
