Created in collaboration with the design studio Chape & Mache, Chaperon is a wall alcove inspired by the votive niche.

The casing, an innovation in molded textile, evokes a vault and covers a secret drawer. This piece of furniture presents as much as it protects personal objects.

Les Sentiments is a collection that brings together marble and light, the immutable and the ephemeral. The poetry of the living invites itself to great timeless figures and whispers in its ear all its fragility.

Il Divino opens this luminous collection where everything oscillates between strength and transience in a delicate vertigo.

This classical-inspired scene is a play on gender and shines through a poetic halo created by Rachel Convers.

FAUX-SEMBLANTS

The story of this new Faux-Semblant in the silhouette of a Qing vase is inspired by a famous Chinese quote from the last of the Four Extraordinary Books of China, The Dream in the Red Pavilion. This classic of 18th century Chinese literature explores the sentimental meanderings of two characters in a historical, political and poetic context of a rare intensity. In one passage, a man reveals his feelings to his loved one in a passionate declaration: 弱水三千, 只取一瓢

«In the ocean of possibilities, you are the only one who exists for me.»

This exclusive and eternal love inspires Rachel Convers, who imagines faces revealing themselves as the water flows by, gentle female figures of possible loves. Dotted with lilies and irises, they skim the opaline surface of the river in their graceful, melancholy wanderings.

From the artist's point of view, Qing River is an ode to the one who has been held back.
