Belgium is Design is Luxury

For this new edition, Maison&Objet is honouring luxury and invites us to take another look at its different creative expressions. For Belgium is Design, this luxury is embodied by a selection of exceptional products designed and made by committed companies. High-quality materials, limited series and luxury without ostentation but which favours specific know-how where artisanal work meets technological innovation. Wallonie-Bruxelles Design Mode and Flanders DC jointly organise this 10th Belgium is Design presence in the TODAY/Signatures section and on the MOM digital platform. The 11 brands selected for the collective booth offer varied and complementary types of products for interior design. In addition to furniture, lighting and textiles is a collection of candles and a range of everyday objects that are completely biodegradable. Tables are the flagship products of the furniture selection. Pierre-Emmanuel Vandeputte's tabletops are removable and create multiple variations for large family dinners or meals for two. Havani specialises in natural stone with a customisable high-end product. The lighting – whether high-end switches with Atelier Luxus finishes or the new brand Luminello that works with sustainable materials – add perfection to the room's atmosphere. As often happens at M&O, textile plays a prominent role for Belgium is Design: amgs, Christoph Broich and for the first time KVP – Textile Design and Fabric Fabrik. Whether they offer a range of cushions, plaids, stoles and household linen or rugs, their worlds are resolutely different. In addition to her wallpaper collection, Pascale Risbourg introduces ceramic pieces designed in harmony with the wall coverings. The latest new features in the selection: Stan Editions offers new purposes for candles that are playful and come in infinite combinations. Finally, the sober and committed luxury of Design for Resilience for an attractive and environmentally-friendly everyday object: a range of resilient sponges.

Visit Maison&Objet Paris from 24 to 28 March 2022 for the pleasure of exchanging and presenting products that you'll enjoy handling. And on MOM all year round!

After a Masters in Textile Design at La Cambre in Brussels (2015), the young Colombian designer ANA MARÍA GÓMEZ founded her studio amgs. Portable pieces of eclectic functional furniture, her creations are often the fruit of collaboration with artists and artisans.

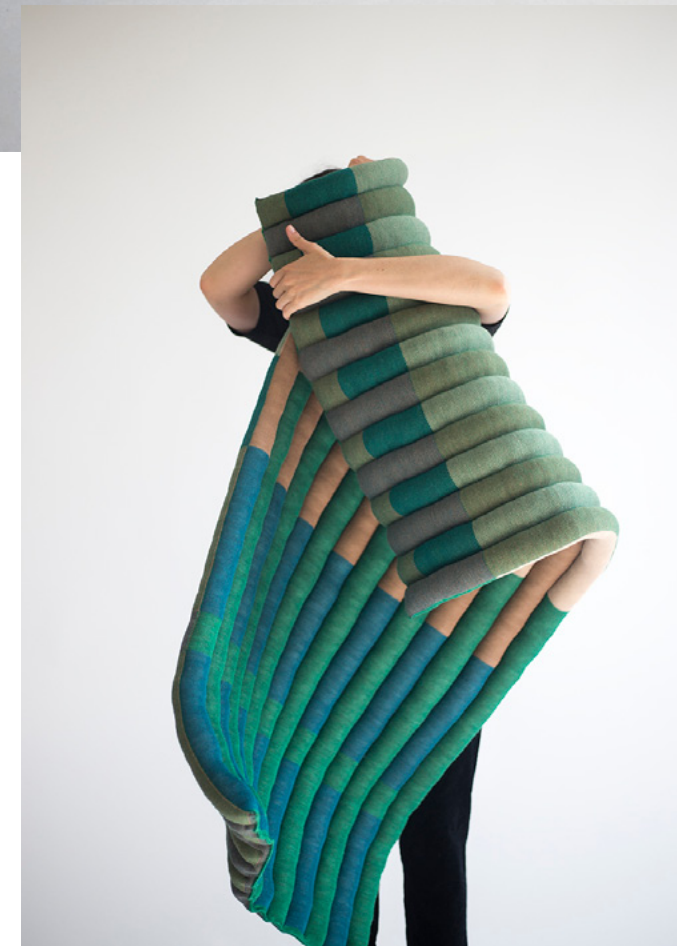

The experience of visual, tactile and spatial textile dimensions is at the heart of her work. Ana María Gómez is especially interested in the interaction between traditional artisanal techniques and contemporary design.

CHRISTOPH BROICH Homeproject offers a contemporary take on interior design. Each cushion, plaid and sports towel is crafted by hand, using a continuously evolving and instinctive artistic process, for a truly unique finish. Unpredictable and wayward, these collector's items are a visual medicine for the soul. A play of layered fabrics, thermofixed pleats and vivid colours create experimental designs. As every statement piece is meticulously folded, fixed and printed by hand, the small imperfections are what make them flawless.

THE COLLECTIONS

Powered by solar energy, the vivid colours and pleats of the RAINBOW CRUSH collection are fixed in the textile at high temperature. This forms a unique and permanent design that can easily be washed at home. Quick-dry and antibacterial, the towel collection is a lightweight for the road. The dyes meet the highest OEKO-TEX standards, which assures an accessory that is safe for your health. For the cushions, a distinctive play of layers, pleats and colours creates a unique finish. Each cushion is handstitched by a passionate worker in a sheltered workshop in Belgium. The design can be customised by playing with the inner cushions. A black side gives the design a more distinguished touch, while the white side will boost the colours.

THE COLLECTIONS

The collections are made to measure entirely in Europe, both for professionals and private individuals. CONCRETE LANDSCAPE is inspired by the Brutalist architectural movement. KVP always had a fascination for the uncompromising minimalism of these buildings, oppressive in both their massive and rigorous sculptural forms. Their thrilling graphic aesthetic, pure and honest, without any superfluous item nor artifice. A raw beauty. BLOCK WINDOW is inspired by a view of a Brutalist building and plays on the volume by the succession of modular blocks and by the placement of shading. BLENDER oscillates between an architectural universe of volumes, of shadows drawn by a gradation of lines; and a fractal geometry inspired by nature. GRID is treated without the volumes, like a plan. The pattern thus keeps all its colorful strength, while simplicity and structure.

SVEN ALGOËT has been designing and making lighting by the name Luminello for 10 years. The story is about a boy from a small village, with big dreams of standing out from the crowd. And so does LUMINELLO, by choosing longlasting materials and by creating a simple and elegant style.

THE COLLECTIONS

Sven makes sustainable choices: copper, brass and borosilicate glass (also called Pyrex) are raw materials that hardly wear out. He envisions longevity in the materials, the designs, but also the tight, simple and elegant style. Nature is a huge source of inspiration.

From design to production, PIERRE-EMMANUEL VANDÉPUTTE (°1991) succeeds in combining surrealism and craft through noble materials. Each piece has a unique identity and an emotional power. Together they appeal to curiosity without preconceptions; they invite us to new experiences unconstrained by our usual expectations. Pierre-Emmanuel Vandeputte's vision takes us to another place; an enigmatic design that calls into question what we believe to be obvious, changing our habits and perceptions.

THE COLLECTION

ABACUS table shakes up convention. Without constraints, the tops slide and move freely along the structure and leave the user to decide on their arrangement. Gradually, the tops disappear and the structure is revealed and becomes a graphic element that takes shape in the space. ABACUS is an interplay of displacement and composition between the different guests.

SCISSORS' SISTERS (set of pitchers) studies the traditional technique of blown glass closely. The openness of glass is highlighted here. Interrupting the process through a perpendicular notch at the pitcher's circumference creates a pouring spout. A single drop escapes along the pitcher showing when we have finished pouring.

The narrow dimensions of the seat of the PAUSA stools enable a perfect break on the three-legged structure.

STAN EDITIONS, founded by 28-year-old Belgian entrepreneur STAN VERSTRAETE, is a young design brand in which the designer develops refreshing new products, sometimes in cooperation with other interesting designers and creatives.

@candlstacks

THE COLLECTION

The first product, CANDL STACKS, is the result of the search for a new way to use candles. Inspired by the increasing supply of sculpted candles, the team behind Stan Editions developed their own candle sculpture during the first Belgian lockdown in 2020. This is a tower of candles that can be stacked, dismantled, burned up and rebuilt in endless ways. La bougie qui bouge was born.

The unique thing about Stan Editions is that it gives the user, both the end consumer and the shops, the freedom to create his towers or stacks himself. The Stan Editions pre-made stacks are just a start, they encourage creativity and form the basic package to build on. The addition of one new colour or shape suffices to form a completely new stack. In this way, both the end consumer and the shops get the chance to build stacks that are perfectly attuned to their own universe and interior. Be creative, keep on stacking!
