New collection "Moon"

This 2021 Tucca surprises us with a new collection of especially fine and light towels, in which color and elegance are the protagonists.

Preserving its hallmark, each design incorporates four clips, which allow you to fix the towel into the sand, remaining perfectly extended and preventing it from blowing away in the wind. In addition, these clips can be used to connect two or more towels together, playing to connect the designs without sand in between.

The collection is inspired by endangered coral species. Danai, Crassa, Florida and Mayeri, are the 4 species that give name to each of the designs. The death of corals is reflected in the loss of their color, leaving them completely white. The designs pick up on this contrast between white and bright colors, representing this process that the marine ecosystem is going through.

The towels are made of 100% GOTS certified organic cotton and with a special construction, which leaves the upper part with a completely smooth and fresh texture, while keeping a small curl on the back for perfect drying. Woven colors, without the use of prints.

As a novelty, the packaging also includes a small cloth bag to store the 4 Tucca clips, made from recycled plastic bottles.
