VOYAGE DE PARFUMEUR

Imagine a perfumer, walking through a sun-drenched vineyard. His senses awaken as the golden light of autumn warms perfectly ripe purple grapes, just waiting to be harvested.

Their sweet scent blends with the generous smell of the earth cracking under his feet. As he dreams of the rich aromas of the wine to come, he hears blackbirds sing. Suddenly, they swoop down to feast on the fruit... The harvest has begun.

DESIGN

A journey inspired by one of René Lalique's legendary creations: a masterpiece of the artist's Art deco period, "Merles et Raisins" (Blackbirds and Grapes, 1928). The beautifully detailed satin-finish vase is a virtuosic adaptation of the 1928 motif. Originally composed for a flat panel, it is skilfully transposed here onto a curved surface. As contemporary as ever, the graceful design features blackbirds with finely chiselled plumage, pecking at rounded grapes.

In keeping with the theme, the precious creation echoes another tribute to René Lalique's "Blackbirds and Grapes": the design that adorns the bottles of Château Péby Faugères, a Grand Cru Classé Saint-Émilion by the Vignobles Silvio Denz, since 2009.

FRAGRANCE

Its delectable fruity woody scent recreates the rich, warm atmosphere of a vineyard just before the harvest. Sunshine is conjured by the pure essence of sweet orange. Rum extract adds its touch of fire. Earthy patchouli and cypriol give off the scent of the generous terroir.
