

Lookbook Spring/Summer 2023

Bright ideas.

Our Spring/Summer 2023 collection brings the joy of weaving to life. In developing distinctive, durable new textures for tabletops and floors, the Chilewich design team looked to inspirations ranging from the culture of cloth to the natural world. High-spirited hues emerge in dialogue with an expanded palette of endlessly adaptable neutrals to enhance every space, indoors and out.

NEW WEAVE

Sampler

In this dynamic debut, paired rectangles come together, introducing a distinctive weave as they overlap. The design is inspired by samplers dating back to at least the 18th century that were used to learn and demonstrate darning: a sewing technique for repairing holes or worn areas in fabric by replicating the structure of the original material. They typically covered small pieces of cloth in darning “blocks” of various weave structures in a variety of colors—especially blue, green, red, and yellow yarns—to make intricacies visible and show the weaver’s skill.

NEW WEAVE

Pebble

Exceptional in its versatility, this double weave is a richly textured canvas for our nuanced approach to neutrals. Pebble connects its organic inspiration—the form of a small stone rounded by the action of water—to graphic precision, reimagining the lively simplicity and tactile elements of mid-century modern design for the spaces of today.

NEW WEAVE

Mesa

Developed with an eye to the robust textures and expansive scales of the natural world, Mesa is a modern interpretation of basketry: the ancient craft of making interwoven objects. Subtle changes within the weave create a multifaceted surface that unites graphic lines, veiling shapes, and richly textured edges that form a soft-edged frame.

NEW WEAVE

Woodgrain

A new voice in our ongoing conversation with faux bois—the centuries-old art and craft of imitating wood—this weave gains its distinctive look from faithfully recreated patterns originally formed by the burls, knots, growth rings, and other natural variations that make each piece of wood unique. Woodgrain was developed with a large, thoughtfully scaled repeat to enhance the continuity and organic quality of the tonal texture.

NEW HUES

Freshly squeezed shades.

Two of our most popular weaves get in the swing of spring and summer with lively new colorations for both the table and the floor. Mosaic, a reimagined diamond weave made special by its lattice of unique forms, debuts in Pink Lemonade, while tactile Bouclé, a crepe weave beloved for its rich texture, dazzles in Tangerine.

NEW HUES

Thoughtfully tufted stripes.

In developing the Spring/Summer 2023 collection's Shag floor mats, our design team prioritized sustainability. Both of the new colorways—Fade in Lagoon and Domino in Apricot—were developed to make use of surplus yarns rather than require the creation of new yarns. Resistant to staining, fading, mold, and mildew, these all-weather mats are backed in a layer of sturdy vinyl and made to last for decades.

NEW FOUNDATIONS

More ways to ground any space, indoors or out.

With more high-performance woven floor mat options than ever before, pulling a room together just got easier. This collection introduces a broad range of fresh hues for signature weaves such as Bamboo, Basketweave, and Mini Basketweave as well as new favorites like Bay Weave, while expanding the availability of our largest floor mat size: Super, measuring 96 by 120 inches (244 × 305 centimeters). Each woven floor mat is backed with non-skid latex and hand finished by our team in Georgia.
