

The background of the entire image is a dark, high-contrast photograph of a glassblowing process. A glass rod is being heated in a furnace, with bright orange and yellow flames surrounding the glowing glass. The glass is being shaped into a curved, elongated form. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the texture of the glass and the intensity of the fire.

London Craft Week 2023 has just finished and We were excited to show our art in this year's edition with our Corteccia glassware at Cox
London

Cox London
Pimlico Road 46
London

Pimlico Road Design District is a meeting place for world-class craftspeople, artisans, curators and makers. A truly unique area; not only will you find the eponymous brands of world-renowned designers here but also the designers themselves, resulting in a creative neighbourhood that tells a story of style, inspiration and exceptional craft.

Tuttoattaccato
'Corteccia' Glassware

Cox London is a unique London atelier that seeks to create a remarkable beauty in the world by unleashing the nature within every piece they create.

Founded by sculptor makers Chris and Nicola Cox in 2005, Cox London has forged an ability to divine natural forms of interior beauty. Sculptural furniture and lighting that stirs the nature within through form, finish, patina and palette. They have built a reputation for creating elemental and remarkable pieces of lighting furniture and artworks inspired by the flow and structure of natural design and order using artisan and craft skills both ancient and modern.

Nicola and Chris Cox