Science at the service of fragrance

The research carried out by the composition house Givaudan has enabled it to establish algorithms capable of identifying a combination of ingredients within the same formula, and its consequences on the brain.

As a result, patents have been registered, as well as certificates attesting that certain perfume formulas, developed in accordance with the results of this research, do indeed help to improve the state of mind of those who use them.

All of this has been made possible by the enormous scientific advances in data processing and imaging, particularly of the brain.

Le Jardin Retrouvé

is a French family perfumery house founded in 1975 around the universal notion of the garden as a symbol of serenity, well-being, beauty, poetry and comfort in an uncertain world.

In 2017, the house was relaunched by the founders' son, Michel Gutsatz, and his wife, artist Clara Feder.

Le Jardin Retrouvé's mission is to help its customers experience a genuine state of well-being through its fragrances and scented products. To achieve this, the fragrance formulas have all been created by two renowned in-house perfumers - Yuri Gutsatz (1914-2005) and Maxence Moutte. They contain exceptional natural ingredients (90 to 99%), some of which have a positive impact on mood.

Since 2023, certifications have been obtained from well-known organizations for the high content of natural ingredients, for their vegan origin, and for the positive effect on mood in certain fragrances. What's more, all Jardin Retrouvé bottles and products are Made in France, recyclable, refillable, reusable or upcycled.

The company is a member of 1% for the Planet.
