We are pleased to announce the release of our new bi-colors at Maison & Objet in September.

While the color composition is an unprecedented combination and coloring, but everything from the fabric to the care labels, tags and sewing threads is made from plant-based materials.

The colors are inspired by traditional Japanese colors, for example, "kazouiro" is a bright yellowish orange like the flowers of the orange daylily, while "NandoNezu" is a deep greenish blue like you would see in the darkness of a storage room.

The new colors will be available in all the shapes listed in the brochure.
