the project

The project is about to tell the feeling of looking at the world by providing a powerful reflection on the beauty of cartography. Drawing cities on leather is a reduction process of the map from the image to an almost abstract structure, an artistic way of interpreting a certain place, made up of essential lines and balances. Our design process is characterized by a deep mix between manual artistic creation based italian design and technological innovation.

vegetable tanned leather

It's a precious material that embodies the signs of time as an expression of naturalness, called "vegetable tanning" for the use of vegetable tannins, obtained from the trunk and bark of trees, plant and flowers, thanks to an ancient barrel dyeing technique.

design process

Drawing cities is an artistic process of reduction from the real city image to an almost abstract structure: the result is a geometric mosaic where daily life and art meet.

laser cut

The leather is cut with a high precision laser and the geographical coordinates engraved on the surface.

Subsequently the map is refined manually.

easy hanging

Thanks to the magnets and the hidden metal structure, the maps appear suspended on any surface and can be hung like a simple painting. The natural and invisible magnetic force is the perfect solution.

customized project

Our product is one of a kind with an high level of customization. It's possible to modify the geographic coordinates or put a logo engraved on the leather in relation to a specific place in the city (Company headquarters, Hotel, Museum...).

In the HO.RE.CA. world many have already chosen our project to personalize their environments.

Maps are an element of great charm and create a strong relationship with both classic and modern environments.

art city maps

Our design does not stop at simple representations of cities but seeks artistic visions of the cities themselves.

The collection of volumetric maps creates 3D effects even though the map is completely flat.

The leather is colored with natural anilines and creates an incredible effect and “opens up” new spaces on the walls.

flying city maps

We carry out specific projects such as the “flying city maps”, created for the Venice Biennial and inspired by the myth of the flying carpet of Indo-Persian tradition. Frank&Frank’s maps recall evocative force, colour, shapes; promise of distance, the plot of cities, a geometric interweaving that tells stories, a mysterious warp, a limited space in which to free the imagination.

Special project art city maps

the minotaur project draws inspiration from the myth of the labyrinth and the creature that inhabits it. The map of the city is mirrored horizontally and an ancestral and primitive figure emerges generated by its double, a symbolic figure: the minotaur. The mythological figure of the minotaur belongs to us, an ambivalent creature partly animal and partly divine. As modern Minotaurs we live in ever larger and more complex labyrinthine megacities.

private setting

The map has always been a symbol of knowledge, the emotion of travel and an emotional reference. Like the ancient maps hung in private homes and which we can still see in some 17th century paintings, our project has an “ancient” sensitivity but with a modern edge, intended for the sensitivity and environments of our time.

about us

The Frank&Frank project is about telling the emotion of the vision of the world through the passion for designing unique and tailor-made leather city maps for any kind of setting: home, office, hotel, museumstore. City maps laser as a geometric artwork where daily life and art meet, making each numbered piece, unique and unrepeatable.

Marcella Molinini and Roberto De Gregorio believe in the charm of cartography and cultivating this mission starting from their multi-year of experience and skill in the field of fashion and visual design.

Always curious and passionate reinterpreting the city maps like urban creatures, geometries, colours, mazes, cultures and spaces as carriers of emotions, opening new perspectives about the places we live in.
