

RAW TO RARE

NATURE SCULPTED INTO RARE COLLECTIBLES

MAEVE DEBUTS AT MAISON ET OBJET PARIS 2026

WHERE ANCESTRAL CRAFT MEETS CONTEMPORARY VISION

MAEVE, the Portuguese luxury brand specializing in sculptural objects for living, presents its collection at Maison et Objet Paris 2026, taking place [15th to 19th of January] at Paris Nord Villepinte Exhibition Centre. Discover the collection at Hall 1 [Signature], Stand [F49].

MAEVE's Maison et Objet 2026 theme is 'Raw to Rare, Nature sculpted into rare collectibles'. Each piece embodies a poetic metamorphosis—nature reimagined through the hands of master artisans, transformed into objects that transcend mere function to become narrative confidants in daily life.

At MAEVE, luxury reveals itself not through ostentation but through the journey from raw material to refined art. Our pieces carry the memory of ancestral techniques and the clarity of contemporary design. They are crafted to be lived with. Perceived as functional elements that elevate the rituals of everyday existence into moments of contemplative beauty.

'MAEVE exists at the intersection where art, design, and artisanship converge,' reflects Ana Medeiros, CEO. 'We don't replicate nature—we recreate its essence. Each creation offers a multisensory dialogue, connecting those who encounter them with the organic world through the excellence of Portuguese craft.'

COLLECTION HIGHLIGHTS

Folia Collection

Drawing from the graceful choreography of leaves in motion, Folia captures organic fluidity through sculptural furniture and lighting. Suspension lamps, seating, and consoles echo botanical elegance, bringing nature's architectural poetry into contemporary interiors.

Palm Collection

Inspired by the iconic silhouette of palm fronds, this collection features statement lighting and furniture that celebrate tropical flora's architectural beauty. Wall lamps, floor lamps, and the distinctive Palm sofa reimagine nature's geometry through refined Portuguese craftsmanship.

Maris Collection

Echoing the intricate formations of marine coral, Maris transforms oceanic textures into tangible art. Spanning decorative objects, lighting, and mirrors, each piece captures the delicate complexity of underwater life through meticulous handwork.
