SQUARE

The Case Study Houses are an architectural initiative that emerged in California and which consisted of calling on new visionary architects from the mid century to the seventies, to design the new standards of post-war housing with a modern vision. The Square range is inspired by the modernist architectural style with its bold square shape with softened angles creating new lines of perspective in the home and by visually redesigning the space with the contrasting borders of its lampshades. The designs of the lamp and the floor lamp revisit the style of the banker's lamp, in the office spirit of a contemporary chic studio. Just as with the modernist style, the Square range combines matte brushed metal, right angles, the roundness and warmth of the softer lines of its lampshades in a perfect balance. The diffusion of light is ensured by a cream cotton, soft and refined, and punctuated by a woven screen in woven FSC® paper in natural and warm colors, which is reminiscent of blinds made of natural fibers which filter the sunlight.
