HEIKO

Blending Danish design heritage with the purity of Japanese aesthetics, UMAGE is introducing the sculptural Heiko chair to its furniture collection – a quiet statement piece designed to bring balance and harmony into the modern home.

Designed by Nicola Bonriposi, the Heiko chair explores the concept of balance through form and materiality. With its curved silhouette and solid yet subtle construction, the chair presents a calm presence with a bold, sculptural expression.

“Heiko explores the concept of balance through a sculptural silhouette, where a solid yet subtle form creates a harmony between calm presence and bold expression,” says designer Nicola Bonriposi.

True to its name, meaning ‘balance’ in Japanese, Heiko strikes a perfect balance between form and function. The soft lines and carefully balanced proportions add a sense of tranquillity to any room, whether placed around the dining table, in the corner of a bedroom, or by the desk in a home office.

Designed to serve more than a practical purpose, Heiko is an object of reflection – an embodiment of thoughtful design and cultural resonance. Available in oak and walnut, the chair brings together comfort, craftsmanship, and a serene design language that invites stillness and appreciation.

UMAGE is a Danish word meaning ‘making an effort’, and that’s what we want to do every day. UMAGE is where beautiful Danish design meets affordability, high-quality material, and a genuine care for the environment.
