A delicate feast for the senses Klatt Objects expands the GAZE range

A delicately openwork structure, appearing fragile yet designed to last for ever: the Klatt Objects GAZE series combines a contemporary design language with artisanal finesse. This autumn, the boutique brand is introducing four elegant collector's pieces: a mini bowl, a votive holder, a flower bowl and a slender vase. With these new additions, Klatt Objects is expanding its exquisite range of high-quality bone china to include versatile pieces for a stylishly laid table and festive decorations of all kinds.

The 12 cm wide, shallow GAZE mini bowl is perfect for serving small delicacies. Whether fresh butter, aromatic olives or fine chocolates – this little gem stylishly showcases both specialties and the simplest of ingredients alike, ensuring moments of culinary delights. The bowl is harmoniously complemented by the newly launched GAZE Votive S lantern. Suitable for small pillar candles or tea lights, its delicate mesh pattern creates a mesmerising play of light in a sophisticated setting.

For floral arrangements, Klatt Objects is introducing two new products: The 21 cm wide flower bowl is ideal for arrangements using the Japanese kenzan, which is once again taking centre stage in interior design thanks to the current Japan trend. The new slender vase perfectly rounds off the setting. At 22cm tall, it allows for a table centrepiece that catches the eye – without obstructing the view.

Solution for the Hospitality Industry

Last year, Klatt Objects expanded its GAZE range – which until then had mainly comprised vases and pots – to include a large fruit bowl. In doing so, the brand's founder, Detlef Klatt, is developing the range into a holistic concept that appeals equally to private households and the upmarket catering and hospitality sectors.

Artisanal finesse

The distinctive mesh structure of the GAZE series is created through a complex process in which liquid bone china is hand-sprayed onto a special mould in a precisely calculated rhythm. The slight irregularities inherent in this demanding artisanal process make each piece a unique, one-of-a-kind item. The series owes its distinctive pure white colour and high edge strength to the high-quality bone china, produced according to a traditional recipe. This makes the pieces extremely sturdy despite their delicate appearance; they are dishwasher-safe and therefore suitable for intensive use.
