Curtain up for a textile-inspired look Klatt Objects presents its new PLISSEE series

Strong material with soft lines: the new PLISSEE range complements the Klatt Objects collection. Pictured here with the GAZE, CORSA and HIDRA ranges © Klatt Objects

Textile or porcelain? With his PLISSEE collection, Detlef Klatt gracefully highlights the soft side of bone china. Inspired by the velvety appearance created when unglazed bone china is finely polished, the designer takes this a step further in this new range, lending the hard material a soft, textile-like drape.

In its nuanced interplay of light, shadow and texture, the delicate surface pattern is reminiscent of the rhythmic folds of a pleated fabric, transforming movement into tranquillity. Natural irregularities emerge within the seemingly uniform fine lines, lending the surface an organic, vibrant presence. The simple, cylindrical silhouette of this contemporary range emphasises the subtle balance between rigour and softness.

Crafted from the finest, traditionally produced bone china, each piece is handcrafted – with evident care and a quiet elegance that defines the essence of Klatt Objects. To mark its launch, the PLISSEE series is available in three attractive designs: a pure white, tall vase (44 cm), a brown-and-black vase (35.5 cm) and a black-and-white pot (18 cm)..
