ANCA FETCU STUDIO UNVEILS THE NEW LOTUS PENDANT LAMP AT MAISON&OBJET PARIS

A new sculptural pendant exploring light, reflection and organic form.

Anca Fetcu Studio presents the new Lotus Pendant Lamp at Maison&Objet Paris, the latest addition to the Lotus Collection.

Created in August 2026, the pendant brings the collection's lotus-inspired form into a new suspended version. Layers of translucent petals surround the light source, while an integrated mirror element reflects both light and form, adding depth and creating a changing visual effect from different angles.

Designed as both a functional light and a sculptural object, the Lotus Pendant continues the studio's exploration of organic forms and the way light can transform an object and the space around it.

"For the Lotus Pendant, I wanted to explore what happens when reflection becomes part of the object itself. The mirror adds another layer to the lamp, multiplying the petals and the light and changing its appearance as you move around it."
