CLÉMENTINE LONG

9 — 14
SEPTEMBRE 2026

LE PETIT PRIEURÉ
PARIS 11

Clémentine Long lives and work in Paris.

She created this studio as an experimentation area exploring graphic dimensions of clay through series of singular objects combining design and art.

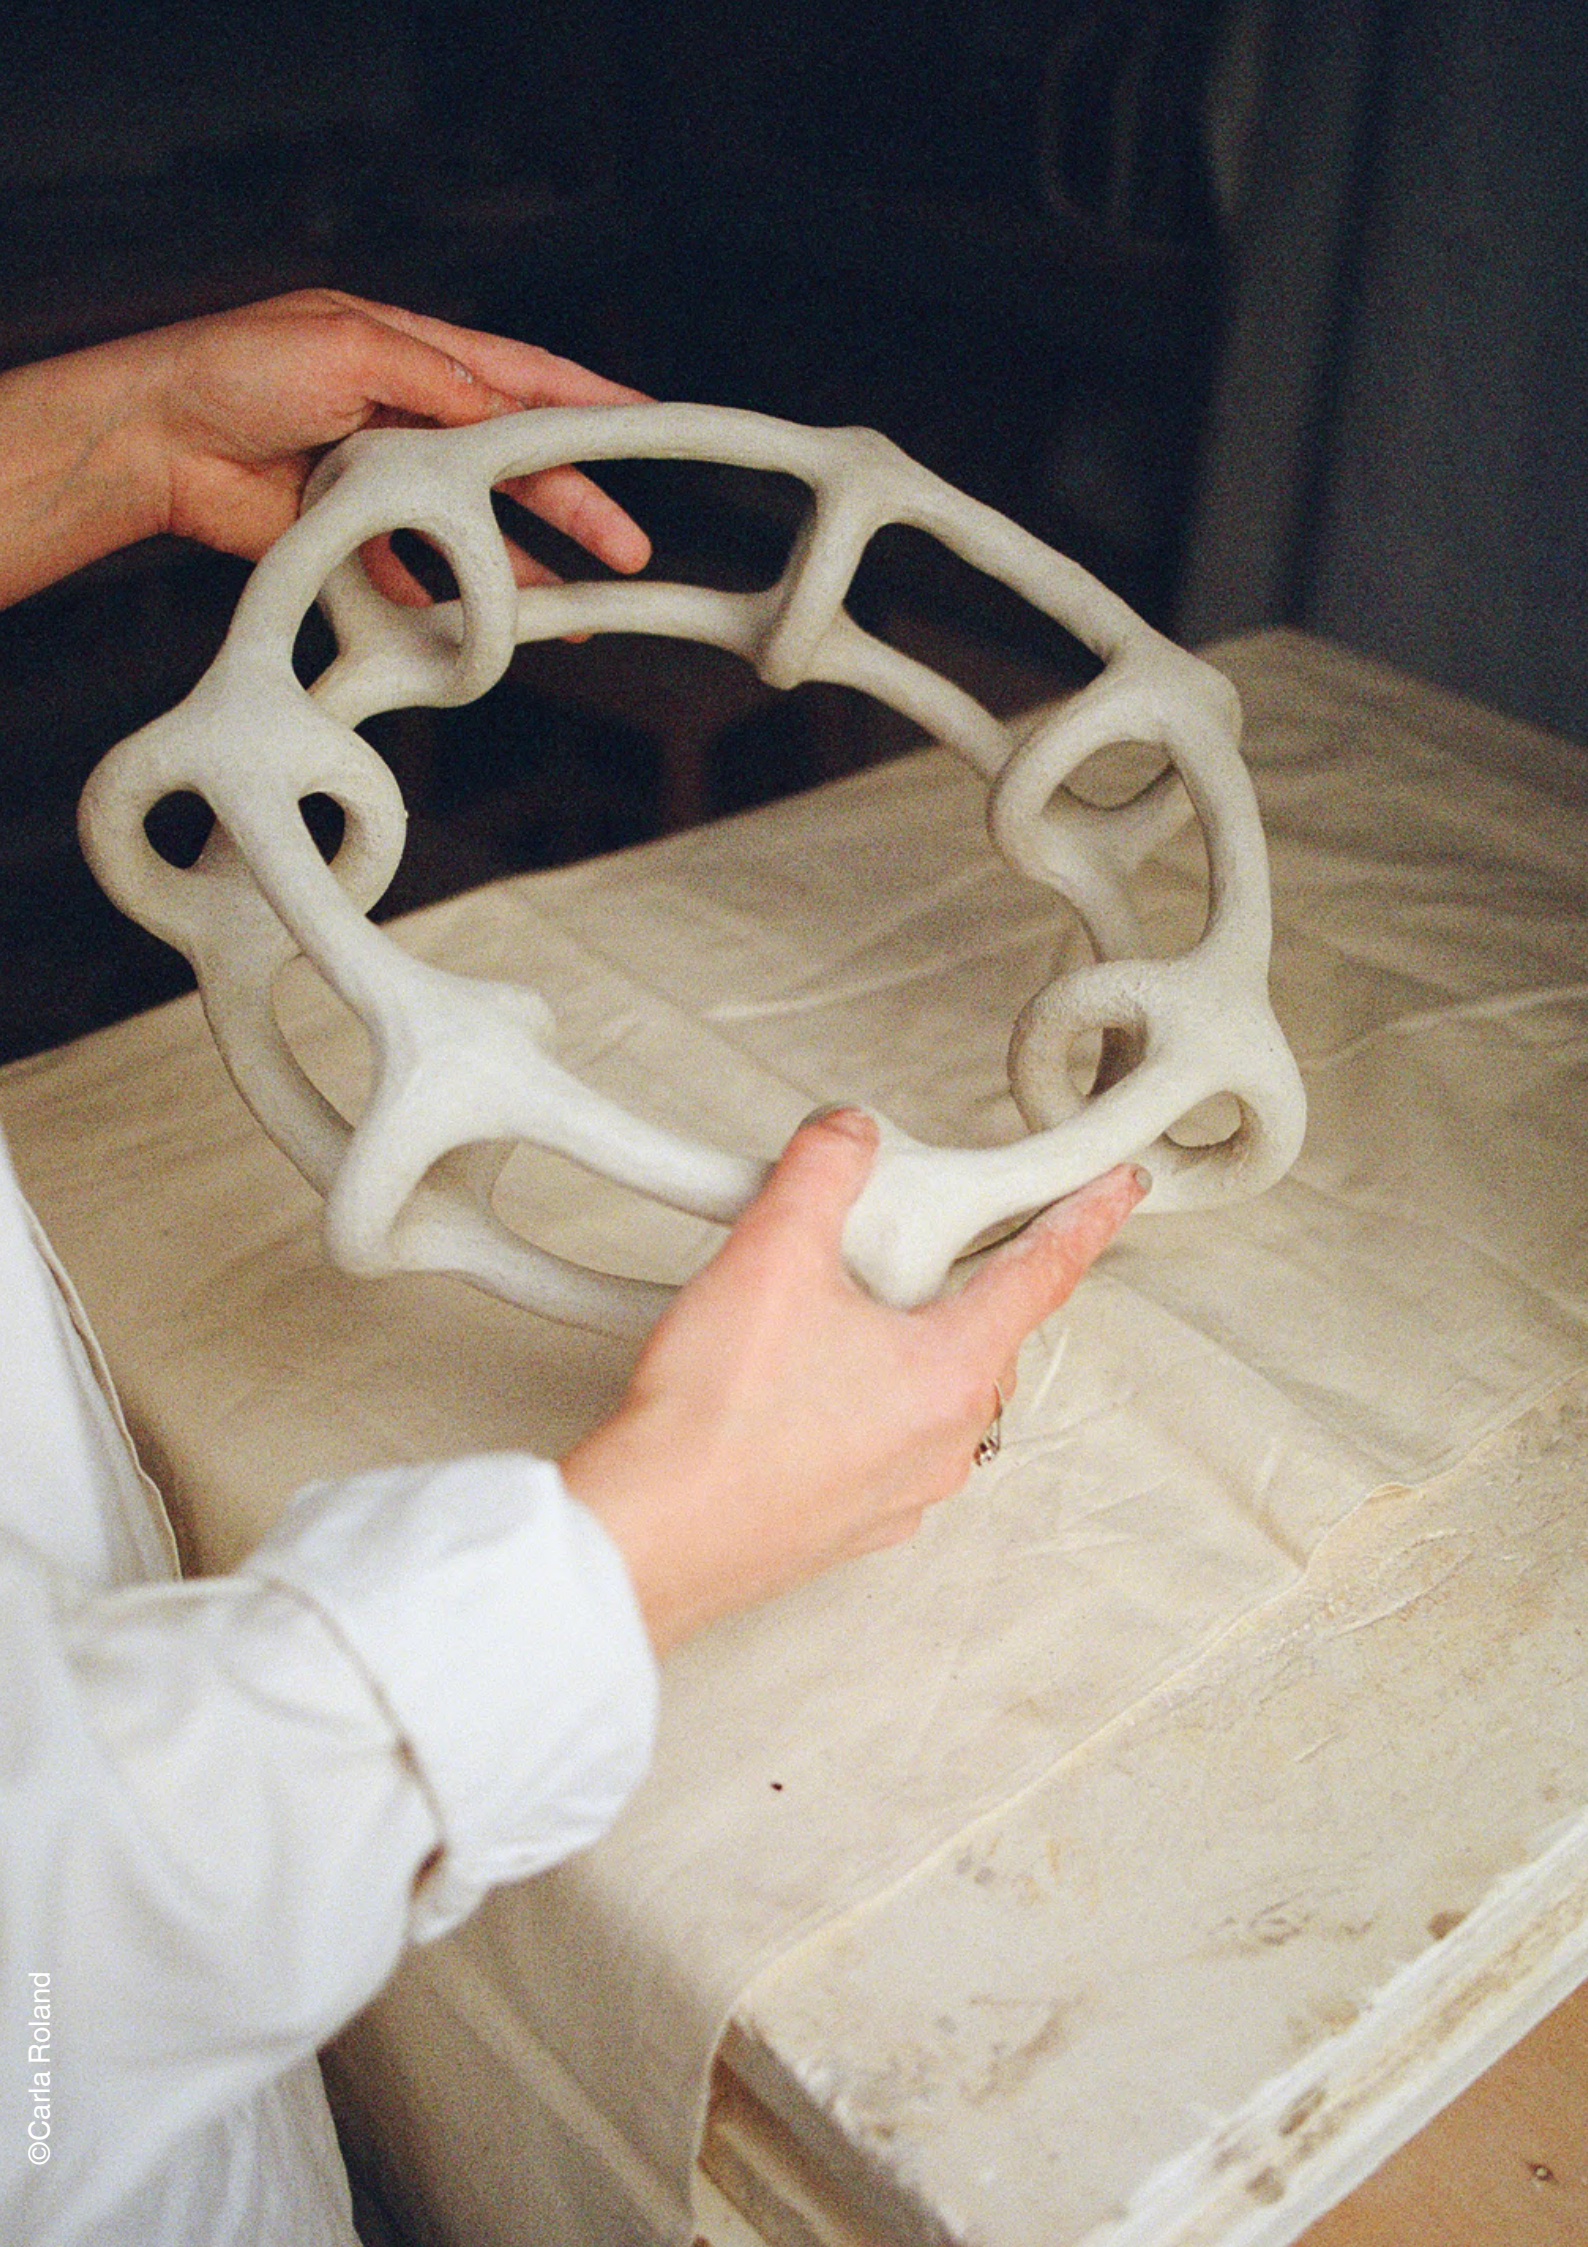

She is inspired by the way objects can tell stories and the different ways in which they can be read.

Working with coils allows her to transfer a drawing process into clay volumes as she builds each shape like a sketch.

The line of a clay coil then echoes the pencil's.

Clémentine takes over Le petit prieuré during Paris design week for her first solo show in a space curated by architect Benjamin Godiniaux.

This installation will reveal an ongoing research on materiality, how to push it to its technical limits by shaping functional sculptures, opening new uses linked with sensibility and gesture.

Core is a series of stoneware objects defined by a unique graphic gesture inspired by drawing. Each piece is handbuilt layer by layer like a fiction, reminding of the core of a plain surface object. Paired with the regularity of the grid, the structures keep a certain softness in revealing the hand's trace.

The white satin glazed surface brings out a nuanced texture, similar to a long-travelled organic skeleton.

Working with a range of natural shades of clay is a way to explore texture as well as structure, establishing a direct connection between the hand and material, both in the act of making and in the experience of the user.

Function remains fluid and can switch from one to another. Tables morph into lamps, sculptures become wall mounted baskets.
