Master & Master introduces S-Tool: A compact and fresh seating collection inspired by bicycle handlebars

The new compact seating collection designed by Index Office is set to premiere at Paris Design Week.

Furniture brand Master & Master is proud to present its latest collection of compact seating, S-Tool, designed by the acclaimed design studio Index Office at this year's Paris Design Week.

The S-Tool collection represents a perfect symbiosis of pure graphic form, everyday practicality, and thoughtful rationality. The primary inspiration behind this concept comes from the iconic geometry of bicycle handlebars and traditional industrial tube-bending techniques. The fluid, sinuous lines of the subtle frame describe generous and highly comfortable arcs, providing the stool with visual lightness while maintaining absolute stability.

Designed for dynamic urban life and flexible modern interiors, S-Tool is lightweight, easily movable, and ideal for both intense daily use and efficient storage. The designers from Index Office and Master & Master have successfully finalized every detail, making the entire product range fully complete and ready for production.

S-Tool is fresh, highly versatile, and ready to be seamlessly integrated into various types of interiors," says Ondřej Zita, co-founder of the brand. The entire collection will be showcased for the first time at the Paris Design Week Factory, where visitors can personally experience its unique design and functionality.
